This universal book is a stunning photographic journey which reveals the changing face of Buddhism, with inspirational, spiritually uplifting (and sometimes humorous) sayings accompanying each photograph. This work of art is designed for people of all levels of spiritual understanding, all religions, and all who enjoy beautiful photographs. The presentation and text provides a veritable 'East meets West' platform; non-threatening and unintimidating.

"...A gorgeous collection of Buddhist art but, even more, it is a wonderful tool for spiritual seekers." –Mary Louise Ruehr, Record Courier

"The photographer Simhananda ... brings an introspective approach to the coffee table book with lovely, haunting images of the Buddha and other Buddhas, Bodhisattvas and Khadromas (dakinis)." –Edmonton Journal

Erudite, poet, music lover and art collector, Simhananda is an avid 'terra' traveler and his photography captures the essence of his many travels. He has recently collated and commented two photography books on the timeless beauty of planet Earth and its people. He lives quietly and privately in the region of Montreal, Canada.
