The Great Golden Garland of Gampopa's
Sublime Considerations on the Supreme Path

MONTREAL, March 28, 2006 – Orange Palm and Magnificent Magus Publications Inc. are pleased to announce the release of The Great Golden Garland of Gampopa's Sublime Considerations on the Supreme Path, Volume 1, by B. Simhananda.

This unique and exceptional book presents ancient Tibetan teachings adapted to the modern mind, and renders these timely teachings accessible to all seekers, regardless of religion or spiritual path. The author offers the reader an in-depth contemporary rendition of Gampopa's, (12th century Tibetan master and teacher), original text.

B. Simhananda's book would be an important addition to the personal collected works on Tibetan Buddhism, or for anyone interested in studying Buddhist literature and philosophy.

"It is beautifully done and a real contribution to literature. I have been recommending the book to my students." -Lama Surya Das.

"Beauty comes from Buddha Mind taking root in the human heart.
Beauty must not be grasped, nor possessed, (by desire).
Beauty in all its forms, (ordinary and transcendental), must be recognized, venerated and enjoyed as inherently real, and yet, as purely void."

-B. Simhananda
